

Pink Digs for a Cure

September 6, 2011

Your southwest Colorado girls volleyball programs proudly present the 5th Annual Pink Digs for a Cure! We are teaming to earn $30,000, toward Emergency Fund Scholarships for local, in-treatment breast cancer patients, through our local Women's Health Coalition of Southwest Colorado.

Pink Digs for a Cure offers our student-athletes the greater lessons of community contribution, while participating in their volleyball program. Each community program will host their own Pink Digs for the Cure Benefit. Inter-community businesses, organizations, and citizens are partnering to supporting our student-athletes, as they compete for neighbors in need.

We will honor your sponsorship center court October 30th, at the Pink Digs Fort Lewis College Skyhawks Event. Pink Digs for the Cure is highly visible in southwest Colorado. We will celebrate courage along side breast cancer survivors, community partners, and our volleyball teams, families, and fans:

Community Sponsorship Proposal

Your southwest Colorado girls volleyball programs are connecting with our community through the 5th Annual Pink Digs for a Cure cancer benefits.

We are partnering with community businesses to raise contributions for local, in-treatment breast cancer patients. One hundred percent of net proceeds directly benefit diagnosed patients with Emergency Fund Scholarships through the Women's Health Coalition of Southwest Colorado. The Emergency Fund assists patients with medical and household expenses attached to in-treatment challenges.

Ignacio High School is "Home of Pink Digs for a Cure." Picture: BP America, our 2010 Pink Sponsors, IHS Student-Athletes, and the 2010 All-Star Survivors Team come together in celebration of courage. All net proceeds benefit our local community neighbors.

There are six levels of sponsorship available through Pink Digs for a Cure Benefits. Our collective goal is to earn $30,000, for Emergency Fund Scholarships.
